Christ Church Day School Students Create Art for Talbot Hospice House

Students in the 2 year old class display their white glitter doves that they created for Talbot Hospice assisted by Mrs. Dyson, Mrs. Leight and Mrs. Shanahan.

Three year old students in Mrs. Sheehan and Mrs. Verteramo's class hold their white doves decorated with buttons and feathers for the Talbot Hospice House.

The 4 year old class along with teachers Mrs. Leech and Mrs. Dayton, decorated their white doves and angels with sparkles, white paint and feathers for Talbot Hospice House.

Preschool students at Christ Church Day School in Easton, shown here with their teachers recently completed an art project to benefit the Talbot Hospice Foundation. The 'Angels and Doves' exhibit showcases the colorful art of local school children and is under the direction of Wendy Van Nest, Director of Family Services and Lucy Tepper, Volunteer Coordinator, at Talbot Hospice. Christ Church Day School enthusiastically participated in this project with beautiful interpretations of white angels and doves adorned with feathers, buttons and sparkling glitter. Talbot Hospice appreciates the dedicated response by CCDS Director Mrs. Susie Leight and the loving art work created by the talented pre-school students. The community is encouraged to visit Talbot Hospice House to view the art work which will be on display throughout the holiday season and into the New Year.
